Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau

This substitute amendment makes all of the following changes to the laws regulating sign language interpreters:

1. Authorizes the Department of Safety and Professional Services to grant a renewable sign language interpreter license to an individual who, in addition to satisfying other requirements under current law, is certified by the Board for Evaluation of Interpreters (BEI).

2. Provides that a restricted sign language interpreter license may be renewed indefinitely. Under current law, the restricted license may only be renewed twice. The substitute amendment makes this change retroactive to an individual holding a valid restricted license on August 31, 2017.

3. Authorizes DSPS to grant a restricted sign language interpreter license to an individual who, in addition to satisfying other requirements under current law, has at least passed the basic performance examination of BEI.

4. Establishes a sign language interpreter — intermediate deaf license. DSPS must license an individual as a sign language interpreter — intermediate deaf if, among other requirements, the individual holds a high school diploma or its equivalent; the individual successfully completed at least 40 hours of a sign language interpreter training curriculum for deaf interpreters; the individual successfully completed at least 16 hours of sign language interpretation-related training approved by BEI or the Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf, Inc. (RID); and the individual provides to DSPS letters of recommendation from at least two individuals who hold a sign language interpreter — advanced deaf license, a certified deaf interpreter certification issued by RID, or an equivalent certification. Taken in the aggregate, the letters of recommendation must verify that the individual has successfully completed at least 25 hours of observing sign language interpretation services provided to clients.

5. Establishes a sign language interpreter — advanced deaf license. DSPS must license an individual as a sign language interpreter — advanced deaf if, among other requirements, the individual holds at least an associate degree or satisfies an alternative pathway for education, and the individual holds a certified deaf interpreter certification issued by RID or an equivalent certification, as determined by DSPS.

6. Requires the Department of Health Services to administer the performance examinations of BEI in Wisconsin.
