Crime Victim and Witness Services

During the past five decades, the Wisconsin Legislature has significantly expanded the rights of crime victims and witnesses. Under Chapter 344, Laws of 1975, the Legislature enacted a law compensating crime victims up to $10,000 for an injury or death. In 1980, Wisconsin became the first state to create a Crime Victims' Bill of Rights. In 1993, voters ratified a constitutional amendment creating a constitutional recognition of victims' rights. This constitutional provision, Article I, Section 9m, states:

"This state shall treat crime victims, as defined by law, with fairness, dignity and respect for their privacy. This state shall ensure that crime victims have all of the following privileges and protections as provided by law:

- Timely disposition of the case;
- The opportunity to attend court proceedings unless the trial court finds sequestration is necessary to a fair trial for the defendant;
- Reasonable protection from the accused throughout the criminal justice process;
- Notification of court proceedings;
- The opportunity to confer with the prosecution;
- The opportunity to make a statement to the court at disposition;
- Restitution;
- Compensation; and
- Information about the outcome of the case and the release of the accused."

The constitutional provision further requires the Legislature to provide remedies for any violation of these rights. These remedies were subsequently provided by the enactment of 1997 Wisconsin Act 181.

Under Act 181, a "victim" is defined as:

1. A person against whom a delinquent act or crime has been committed.
2. If the victim is a child, the child's parent, guardian or legal custodian.
3. If the victim is physically or emotionally unable to exercise his or her rights as a victim, the person designated by the victim or a family member of the victim.
4. If the victim is deceased, any of the following:
 - A family member; or
 - A person who resided with the deceased victim.
5. If the victim is incompetent, the person's guardian.

A person alleged to have committed the delinquent act or crime cannot be considered a victim.

In addition to expanding the legal rights of crime victims and witnesses under state law, the state has also developed and administers a series of state-funded programs to provide services to crime victims and witnesses. The remainder of this paper provides information on these state-funded programs.

Funding for County Victim and Witness Services

Eligibility to Receive Reimbursement.

Counties are eligible to receive reimbursement from the state for not more than 90% of the costs incurred in providing victim and witness services. To be eligible for reimbursement, a county must provide all of the following services to victims and witnesses:

- Court appearance notification services, including cancellation of appearances;
- Victim compensation and social services referrals, including witness fee collection, case-by-case referrals and public information;
- Escort and other transportation services related to the investigation or prosecution of the case, if necessary or advisable;
- Case progress notification services which may be combined with court appearance notification services;
- Assistance in providing the court with information pertaining to the economic, physical and psychological effect of the crime upon the victim of a felony;
- Employer intercession services;
- Expedited return of property services;
- Protection services;
- Family support services, including child and other dependent care services; and
- Waiting facilities.

In addition to these victim and witness services, counties are encouraged to provide the following additional services on behalf of children who are involved in criminal or delinquency proceedings as victims or witnesses:

- Explanation, in language understood by the child, of all legal proceedings in which the child will be involved;
- Advice to the judge, when appropriate and as a friend of the court, regarding the child's ability to understand the proceedings and questions;
- Advice to the district attorney concerning the ability of a child witness to cooperate with the prosecution and the potential effects of the proceedings on the child; and
- Information about and referrals to appropriate social services programs to assist the child and child's family in coping with the emotional impact of the crime and the subsequent proceedings in which the child is involved.

Reimbursable County Costs. Under administrative rule Jus 12.02(15), the following categories of county costs are reimbursable under the program:

1. Salaries and benefits;
2. Overtime and night differentials;
3. Travel expenses;
4. Space rental;
5. Staff development, including registration fees, travel to and from training and conferences, meals, lodging, membership dues, subscriptions, and library materials;
6. Public information, including the printing of brochures and similar projects;
7. Local and long distance telephone costs;
8. Maintenance, repair and replacement of equipment;

9. Office supplies;

10. Equipment or non-expendable personal property having a useful life of more than one year and acquisition cost of more than $500; and

11. Contractual services.

In 2015-16, counties reported aggregate costs of $11,716,800 (all funds) under the program.

Program Administration and Funding. If a county wishes to be reimbursed, the county board must annually submit a program plan to the Department of Justice (DOJ) for approval. The plan must describe the level of services to victims and witnesses that the county plans to provide; the personnel or agencies responsible for programs and services; proposed staffing for the program; proposed education, training and experience requirements for program staff; and the county's budget for implementing the program. The plan must also provide that the district attorney, local law enforcement agencies, and the courts will make all non-confidential reports and files available to program staff, as required to carry out their responsibilities.

To receive reimbursement, a county board must file a reimbursement claim with DOJ. The Department, in turn, determines the level of services for which a county may be reimbursed based on a county's level of staffing for the program. The approved level of staffing is determined by the caseload, number of prosecutors, and justified need.

The actual percentage of county costs that is reimbursed varies each year depending upon the availability of state funds, the costs of the counties' approved programs, and the number of counties operating approved programs. Table 1 summarizes, for the last 10 fiscal years, the reported annual county costs for approved programs of participating counties, the annual state reimbursements, the percentage of county costs actually reimbursed, and the number of counties receiving reimbursement for victim and witness assistance services costs. Table 2 summarizes the amounts reimbursed to each county during this same 10-year period.

Prior to 2013 Wisconsin Act 20, reimbursement payments to the counties for victim and witness services were funded from both general purpose revenue and program revenue sources. Under 2013 Act 20, reimbursements to counties is entirely funded from the following program revenue sources: (a) the crime victim and witness assistance surcharge; (b) the delinquency victim and witness surcharge; and (c) the penalty surcharge.

* Menominee County receives indirect support through payments to Shawano County.

 Note that the annual total of county reimbursements provided in Table 2 may not match the total amounts identified in Table 1 due to rounding.

The crime victim and witness surcharge is assessed against any person who is convicted of a misdemeanor or felony violation of state law, and may not be waived, reduced, or forgiven for any reason. The surcharge totals $67 for each misdemeanor count on which a conviction occurs and $92 for each felony count on which a conviction occurs.

The crime victim and witness surcharge is also imposed on civil offenses if: (a) a person is charged with one or more crimes in a complaint; and (b) as a result of the complaint being amended, the person is charged with a civil offense in lieu of one of those crimes. The amount of the surcharge applied to the civil offense is based on whether the original underlying charge was a felony charge (in which case a $92 surcharge would be assessed), or a misdemeanor charge (in which case a $67 surcharge would be assessed).

The delinquency crime victim witness surcharge is imposed on any juvenile adjudged delinquent. The surcharge is $20.

The penalty surcharge is generally imposed when the court imposes a fine or forfeiture for a violation of state law or municipal or county ordinance. The surcharge is equal to 26% of the imposed fine or forfeiture.

In 2015-16, $6,316,600 program revenue (PR) was provided to the counties as reimbursement for victim and witness services; comprised of: (a) $5,612,700 from the crime victim witness surcharge and delinquency crime victim witness surcharge; and (b) $748,900 from the penalty surcharge. The Department estimates that in 2016-17, it will expend $5,983,900 on reimbursement payments to counties for victim and witness services, comprised of: (a) $5,235,000 from the crime victim witness surcharge and delinquency crime victim witness surcharge; and (b) $748,900 from the penalty surcharge revenue.

Table 3 details the amounts of crime victim and witness surcharge revenues collected during each of the last 10 fiscal years. Included in the amounts listed Table 3 is revenue generated from the delinquency crime victim and witness surcharge.

Crime Victim Compensation Program

Innocent victims of violent crimes, including their dependents and family members, often undergo financial hardships. The state's crime victim compensation program compensates victims and the dependents of deceased victims for the cost of medical treatment, lost wages, crime scene cleanup costs, replacement cost of property held for evidentiary purposes, and funeral and burial expenses. In addition, victims who are caregivers may be compensated for expenses related to securing caregiver services.

The specific types of economic loss for which compensation may be awarded from the crime victim compensation program are detailed in Appendix I.

Dependents of a deceased victim may also be compensated for their loss of support. A dependent is defined as any spouse, domestic partner, parent, grandparent, stepparent, child, stepchild, adopted child, grandchild, brother, sister, half-brother, half-sister, or parent of a spouse or of a domestic partner, of a deceased victim who was wholly or partially dependent on the victim's income at the time of the victim's death. A child of the victim born after the victim's death is also regarded as a dependent.

Victim compensation awards may also be made to family and household members of a homicide victim for compensable economic losses (identified above) that are incurred as a result of the individual's reaction to the death. This award to family and household members of a homicide victim is subject to the same limits that apply to compensation awarded directly to victims. A family member is defined as any spouse, domestic partner, parent, grandparent, stepparent, foster parent, child, stepchild, adopted child, grandchild, foster child, brother, sister, half-brother, or half-sister.

Generally, an individual must be a victim of one of the crimes enumerated in Table 4 in order to be eligible for an award. An award may be made regardless of whether or not a person is prosecuted or convicted for the crime which caused the victim's injury or death. However, victims who have been determined by DOJ to have substantially contributed to their injury or death are not eligible to receive an award.

A victim is also eligible for an award if the individual was injured or killed while: (a) preventing or attempting to prevent a crime; (b) apprehending or attempting to apprehend a suspected criminal; (c) aiding or attempting to aid a police officer app-reheard or arrest a suspected criminal; (d) aiding or attempting to aid a crime victim; or (e) aiding or attempting to aid a hit and run victim. Under 1989 Wisconsin Act 140, on-duty police officers and fire fighters are eligible for awards. Appendix II summarizes the eligibility requirements which must be met to qualify for a compensation award.

The amount of a victim's compensation award may be reduced by "collateral deductions," such as payments from: insurance; worker's compensation; unemployment insurance; public funds; awards under the sexual assault forensic examination (SAFE) program (discussed below); or the offender and third parties who are found liable for the offender's acts. This offset provision ensures that only the victim's actual out-of-pocket costs are covered by the program.

Funding and Administration. Funding for the crime victim compensation program is provided from the following sources: (a) general purpose revenue (GPR); (b) restitution payments received by the state from defendants to offset prior awards made to victims under the program; and (c) a federal grant awarded under the federal Victims of Crime Act (VOCA). Federal funds from the VOCA grant are generated from a number of sources, including criminal fines collected from defendants convicted of federal offenses, penalty assessments on federal felony or misdemeanor convictions, and the proceeds of forfeited federal appearance bonds and bail bonds. Approximately 42.8% of the federal crime victims' fund is available to reimburse state compensation programs. The federal VOCA program matches 60% of state funding for crime victim compensation. The VOCA grant is awarded on a federal fiscal year basis (October 1 to September 30). In federal fiscal year 2014-15, Wisconsin's share of the VOCA grant was $37,416,500, comprised of $2,459,000 for victim compensation and $34,957,500 for victim assistance. In federal fiscal year 2016, Wisconsin's share of the VOCA grant was $41,743,100, comprised of $2,350,000 for victim compensation and $39,393,100 for victim assistance. Five percent of the VOCA grant awards may be used for administrative costs.

The state's maximum award for any one injury or death is $40,000. This maximum award for any one injury or death was increased from $10,000 to $40,000 under 1985 Wisconsin Act 242. In addition to this maximum award, DOJ may not make any award for expenses incurred after four years from the date of the injury or death. If an applicant was a child at the time of the injury, DOJ may consider for payment eligible expenses that the applicant incurred not more than one year before he or she submitted an application for an award, however DOJ may not make any award after four years have passed since the date the individual made the application or after four years have passed since the date on which the individual incurred the expense prior to submitting the application, whichever is first. The statutes also specify award maximums for each category of loss. Appendix III describes the current award limits. Individual claims are not prorated under the program. Instead, any claims not fully paid after accounting for the "collateral deductions" discussed earlier, are carried forward into the next fiscal year when funds again become available.

Appendix IV identifies, by category of claim (usually type of crime), the new claims for compensation filed under the program during the last two completed state fiscal years, 2014-16. Of the 5,160 claims filed during this time period, the greatest numbers of new claims were filed as a result of aggravated battery (1,091 claims) and sexual assault of a minor (1,032 claims).

The Department denies payment to claimants under the program for a variety of reasons consistent with Chapter 949 of the statutes (Awards for the Victims of Crimes). Table 5 identifies for the last two completed state fiscal years, 2014-16, the various reasons why 1,029 completed claims were denied. The most frequent reason for denial was that the victim's conduct contributed to his or her injury (188 claims).

In reviewing Table 6, note that the average amount expended per paid claim does not include non-payments due to denied claims or claims that are being reviewed and processed. In 2015-16, $3,141,100 was expended on crime victim compensation awards, comprised of: (a) $2,388,100 GPR; (b) $400,000 PR; and (c) $353,000 FED. For 2016-17, $4,479,300 is budgeted to make awards to victims of crime, comprised of: (a) $2,388,100 GPR; (b) $267,300 PR; and (c) $1,823,900 FED. Program revenue for crime victim compensation awards is generated from court ordered restitution payments made by criminals.

The provisions of 2007 Wisconsin Act 20 provided that restitution payments received by the state from defendants to offset awards made to victims under the crime victim compensation program would no longer be deposited to the general fund, but would instead be deposited to a program revenue appropriation to increase funding available for crime victim awards. The increased restitution funding also permits the state to increase its share of federal VOCA funding for crime victim awards. Nonetheless, annual compensation awards under the program have, in the past, exceeded annual revenue, requiring certain larger compensation awards over $10,000 to be paid over multiple biennia. By the end of 2013-14, the amount of identified unpaid claims totaled $2,322,500. In response, the Attorney General approved a discretionary award in the amount of $3,378,500 to pay off all 2013-14 claims in full, as well as any remaining unpaid obligations. Since then, DOJ has not incurred a backlog in unpaid crime victim compensation claims. The Department does not anticipate the carryover of any unpaid claims into the 2017-19 biennium.

Sexual Assault Victim Services Grant Program

Under 1993 Wisconsin Act 16, a sexual assault victim services grant program (SAVS) was created, beginning January 1, 1995. Grants are provided by DOJ to eligible nonprofit corporations or public agencies to provide (or subcontract to provide) all the following services for sexual assault victims:

1. Advocacy and counseling services;

2. 24-hour crisis telephone services;
3. Educational programs on professional intervention and community prevention; and
4. Services for persons living in rural areas, men, children, elderly or physically disabled persons, minority groups or other groups of victims that have special needs within the service area of the nonprofit corporation or public agency.

An eligible organization may not receive more than 70% of its operating budget from grants provided under this program and may not contract, subcontract or enter into agreements with other organizations or individuals to provide all of the required services. When DOJ reviews grant applications, it must consider local needs for sexual assault victim services, the coordination of the applicant's services with other victim resources, the needs of rural and urban communities, and the needs of existing and proposed programs and services.

Sexual assault victim services grants are awarded on a calendar year basis. In 2015 and 2016, 44 agencies were awarded grants totaling $2,033,100. Appendix V identifies the agencies which received SAVS grants in 2016, as well as the award each agency received, the city of each agency's main office, and the counties the agencies serve.

Victims of sexual assault, domestic abuse, or stalking may request that the Elections Commission (formerly the Government Accountability Board) withhold their name and address, appearing on a poll list or registration list, from public inspection. Should the individual include with their request authentication of their circumstances, the Commission must honor the individual's request. Authentication includes, among other possibilities, a signed statement from a sexual assault service provider. To facilitate this process, the Department of Justice must continually certify to the Commission a list containing the names and addresses of each organization that are eligible to receive sexual assault victim services grants. The list of eligible organizations must also be made available to law enforcement agencies.

Prior to 2013-14, SAVS was funded by the crime victim and witness surcharge. Under 2013 Act 20, funding for SAVS is provided from state general purpose revenue (GPR) and revenue from the child pornography surcharge. The child pornography surcharge is imposed on a person 18 years of age or older who is sentenced or placed on probation for sexual exploitation of a child or possession of child pornography. The surcharge totals $500 for each original or copy of a pornographic image associated with the crime.

In 2015-16, $2,036,500 GPR is appropriated for providing SAVS grants and administering the program. The 2015-17 biennial budget (2015 Act 55) provided an additional $100,000 GPR for the SAVS grant program in 2016-17. As a result, $2,136,500 GPR is appropriated for the SAVS grant program in 2016-17. In 2015-16, the child pornography surcharge generated $143,300 PR. Of this amount, $26,600 was utilized to support the administration of the SAVS grant program. In 2016-17, DOJ estimates that the child pornography surcharge will generate $145,000. Of this amount, DOJ anticipates utilizing $115,000 for the SAVS grant program, comprised of $80,000 in additional grant funding and $35,000 for the administration of the grant program.

Total expenditures by all grantees of the sexual assault victim services grant program from all funding sources (including non-SAVS sources) were $8,689,617 in calendar year 2014 and $7,336,800 in calendar year 2015.

Table 7 shows the number of people that grantees served in 2014 and 2015, by type of sexual assault service.

Sexual Assault Forensic Exams Program

Under the Sexual Assault Forensic Exams (SAFE) program, health care providers may seek reimbursement for the examination costs to gather evidence regarding a sex offense. A sex offense is defined as an act committed in Wisconsin that, if committed by a competent adult, would be a criminal violation or attempted violation constituting: (a) sexual assault; (b) sexual assault of a child; (c) engaging in repeated acts of sexual assault of the same child; (d) sexual exploitation of a child; (e) incest with a child; (f) soliciting a child for prostitution; or (g) sexual intercourse with a child age 16 or older.

Under statute, examination costs that are eligible for reimbursement include the costs of an examination that is done to gather evidence regarding a sex offense, any procedure during that examination process that tests for or prevents a sexually transmitted disease, and any medication provided or prescribed during that examination process that prevents or treats a sexually transmitted disease that the examiner believes could be a consequence of the sex offense. Examination costs do not include any processing or administrative costs, attorney fees, or other expenses. Under administrative rule, DOJ has further specified that eligible examination costs include: (a) collection of the victim's medical history; (b) collection of a forensic history of the events of the assault; (c) physical examination of the victim for evidence; (d) photographs of the physical evidence of the sex offense; (e) evaluation, testing, or prophylaxis for sexually transmitted diseases; (f) evaluation of the risk of pregnancy; (g) collection of blood and urine; and (h) other expenses incurred in conducting the examination, including but not limited to the cost for the use of its facility. By rule, DOJ has also provided that it will pay two-thirds of the amount billed for eligible services, up to a maximum of $1,200 for each examination. In exceptional cases, DOJ may approve an award in excess of the maximum reimbursement award. Further, beginning January 1, 2017, the maximum award will be annually adjusted by an inflation factor.

A health care provider seeking an award under the program may not seek payment for any examination costs from the victim or any guardian of the victim. The Department of Justice may not make an award under the program if: (a) the victim authorized the health care provider to seek payment for any examination costs from insurance or another available source of payment; and (b) the victim, or any guardian of the victim, cooperated with a law enforcement agency. Individuals who cooperate with law enforcement may seek an award under the crime victim compensation program discussed above. The Department of Justice may not refuse to make an award under the SAFE program to a health care provider because the victim or the guardian of the victim did not cooperate with a law enforcement agency regarding the sex offense, or due to lack of an investigation or prosecution of the sex offense.

The SAFE program was originally created under the provisions of 2005 Wisconsin Act 25. Act 25 provided $37,500 PR annually during 2005-07 to provide reimbursement for sexual assault forensic exams. The provisions of 2007 Wisconsin Act 20 created statutory language to govern the administration of the program, and converted the funding for this program to GPR. Act 20 created a GPR sum sufficient appropriation for the program budgeted at $50,000 GPR annually. Under 2013 Act 20, the budget for the SAFE GPR sum sufficient appropriation was increased to $700,000 GPR annually. During the 2015-17 biennium, the SAFE GPR appropriation is appropriated $600,000 GPR annually. [Since the appropriation is sum sufficient, DOJ may make awards under the SAFE program in excess of appropriated amounts.] In 2014-15, 65 health care providers received reimbursement under the program for services provided to 644 victims, with total expenditures of $597,400 GPR. In 2015-16, 71 health care providers received reimbursement under the program for services provided to 753 victims, with total expenditures of $710,700 GPR.

Child Advocacy Centers

Child advocacy centers are intended to provide comprehensive services for child victims and their families by coordinating services from law enforcement and criminal justice agencies, child protective services, victim advocacy agencies, and health care providers. Grants awarded under the program typically fund multidisciplinary teams of law enforcement, nurses and victim advocates to record victim interviews and collect evidence in child sexual assault and child abuse cases.

Section 165.96 of the statutes directs the Department of Justice to provide 14 annual grants of $17,000 to child advocacy centers in 14 counties for education, training, medical advice, and quality assurance activities. The statutes specifically identify the grant recipients in 11 of the 14 counties, while in Brown, Racine and Walworth Counties the statutes do not specify which child advocacy center will receive the grant funding. Table 8 specifies the child advocacy centers that received grants in 2015-16.

Beginning January 15, 2015, and annually thereafter, DOJ must submit a report to the Legislature containing the following information about the child advocacy center grant program: (a) the amount of each grant awarded under the program for the previous fiscal year; (b) the grantee to whom each grant was awarded; (c) the agency's methodology for awarding grants and determining the level of grant funding to be provided to each grant recipient; (d) performance measures created by DOJ for the grant program; and (e) reported results of each grant recipient in each fiscal year as to the attainment of performance measures DOJ developed for the grant recipient.

Funding for child advocacy center grants is provided from justice information system surcharge revenue. The $21.50 justice information system surcharge is generally charged when a court imposes fee or forfeiture on an individual.

Address Confidentiality Program

Under 2015 Act 356, the Legislature created an address confidentiality program within the Department of Justice for victims of abuse, as well as the parents and guardians of those victims. For the purposes of the program, abuse includes: child abuse, domestic abuse, sexual abuse, stalking, and trafficking. The provisions of Act 356 will become effective on April 1, 2017.

In order to keep the actual address of a program participant confidential, DOJ provides a participant with an assigned address for the participant to utilize for all purposes. Mail sent to the program participant at the assigned address is received by DOJ. After receiving the mail, DOJ must forward the mail to the program participant's actual address. The Department may not charge a fee to individuals applying to, or participating in, the program.

The Department may not disclose a program participant's actual address to any person, except either: (a) to a court, pursuant to a court order; or (b) to a law enforcement officer for official purposes. If a court order is requested for disclosure, DOJ must request that the court keep any record containing the program participant's actual address sealed and confidential. Similarly, if a program participant submits a written request to a clerk of a local unit of government, the local clerk may not disclose any record in the clerk's possession that would reveal the program participant's actual address, except pursuant to a court order. Under the program, a local clerk includes a county clerk, a clerk of court, a municipal clerk, or a register of deeds.

An individual participating in the address confidentiality program may utilize his or her assigned address for all purposes. State and local government agencies may not refuse to use a program participant's assigned address for any official business unless a specific statutory duty requires the government agency to use the participant's actual address. Similarly, no person who has been notified of an individual's participation in the program may refuse to use a program participant's assigned address, and may not require a participant to disclose his or her actual address or intentionally disclose to another person the actual address of a program participant. State and local government agencies may confirm that an individual is a program participant with DOJ.

Act 356 did provide for an exception to the use of actual addresses of program participants for municipal clerks administering an election. Specifically, a municipal clerk may require a program participant to provide his or her actual address for voter registration and voter verification purposes. Program participants that must provide their actual address for election purposes may participate in the state's confidential voter program. Under the confidential voter program, the name and address of individuals participating in the program are withheld from public inspection on poll and registration lists.

An individual is eligible to participate in DOJ's address confidentiality program if he or she attests to all of the following: (a) that he or she is a resident of Wisconsin; (b) that either: (1) the individual is a victim of abuse, a parent or guardian of a person who is a victim of abuse, or a resident of a household in which a victim of abuse also resides; or (2) the individual fears for his or her physical safety or for the physical safety of his or her child or ward; (c) the individual resides or will reside at a location in Wisconsin that is not known by the person who committed, or threatens to commit, abuse against the participant or his or her child or ward; and (d) that he or she will not disclose his or her actual address to the person who committed, or threatens to commit, abuse against the participant or his or her child or ward.

An individual is eligible to participate in the program regardless of whether any criminal charges have been brought relating to any act or threat against the participant or whether the participant has reported any act or threat against him or her to a law enforcement officer or agency. The statutes also specify that an individual is eligible to participate in the program regardless of whether the participant has sought a restraining order or injunction relating to any act or threat against the person.

In order to participate in the program, an individual must complete an application form established by the Department. The application must include the applicant's name, actual address, and a place for the applicant to identify any state or local government agency that employs a person who committed an act of abuse against the applicant. In addition, the application must include a statement certifying that the applicant understands and consents to the following program requirements: (a) the program participant remains enrolled in the program for five years, unless the participant cancels his or her participation or is disenrolled in the program; (b) the participant will notify DOJ when he or she changes his or her actual address or legal name; (c) the participant is required to develop a safety plan with a program assistant; (d) the participant authorizes DOJ to notify state or local agencies and units of government that the applicant is a program participant; (e) that DOJ will notify the participant if his or her participation in the program will expire or if DOJ will disenroll the participant; (f) the participant may cancel his or her participation in the program at any time; and (g) the participant certifies DOJ to be the participant's designated agent for service of process.

As noted above, a program participant generally remains enrolled in the program for five years. If a program participant fails to inform DOJ of a name or address change (as required under "b" in the paragraph above), DOJ may disenroll the participant in the program. However, if an individual's participation in the program is ending, due to either disenrollment or the conclusion of the five year enrollment period, DOJ must notify the program participant of this fact. The individual then may reenroll in the program within six months from the date that DOJ issues the notification.

Victim Resource Center

The Department of Justice operates the Victim Resource Center to inform and assist crime victims regarding crime victim rights and services. The Center maintains a toll-free telephone number to provide crime victims and witnesses with the following services: (a) information and referral to available services; (b) emotional support; (c) assistance in securing resources and protection; (d) assistance in exercising their rights as victims; and (e) intervention with the criminal justice system, when warranted. The Department is also authorized to receive complaints and, with the consent of the parties involved, mediate complaints regarding treatment of crime victims and witnesses. In 2014-15, the Victim Resource Center served 1,207 victims and responded to 3,481 victim contacts (including telephone, email, and written contacts). In 2015-16, the Center served 1,518 victims and responded to 3,950 victim contacts.

Since January 1, 1994, the Center has operated the Victim Appellate Notification Services (VANS) program. This program provides information to victims and witnesses regarding any appeals of their cases. The information includes dates of oral arguments and appellate court decisions. The program was established because district attorneys, who typically provide such services at the circuit court level, are generally not involved in felony and other significant criminal and juvenile delinquency appeals (typically handled by DOJ attorneys). Consequently, victims and witnesses were not being kept up to date on appeals of their cases.

The Center also provides victim and witness services in cases prosecuted by DOJ when no other victim or witness services are available. Of the 1,207 victims served by the Victim Resource Center in 2014-15, 212 received services under the VANS program. Of the 1,518 victims served by the Center in 2015-16, 193 received services under the VANS program.

In state fiscal year 2015-16, the Victim Resource Center received a federal VOCA grant award of $303,600. The state's match is 25% of each award.

Crime Victims Council

The Wisconsin Crime Victims Council is a statutory, 15-member body whose members are appointed to staggered, three-year terms by the Attorney General. Of the 15 members, 10 are citizen members, two are representatives of organizations that provide victim support services, and one represents each of the following entities: law enforcement agencies, district attorneys, and the judiciary. The Council's purpose is to study and make recommendations regarding the needs of crime victims in Wisconsin.

The Council, through its subcommittees: (a) reviews and makes recommendations on legislation and public policy; (b) studies access to crime victim services; (c) provides policy recommendations to the judiciary, law enforcement officers, mental health providers and professionals and the public regarding crime victim needs; and (d) advocates for crime victims, including the use of the media to raise public awareness of victim issues.

APPENDIX I

Losses or Injuries for Which Compensation is Provided Through the State's Crime Victim Compensation Program

1. Medical treatment, which includes medical, surgical, psychiatric, psychological, dental, optometric, chiropractic, podiatric, and hospital care; prescription medications; medical, dental, and surgical supplies; crutches; artificial members; appliances and training in the use of artificial members and appliances. Medical treatment also includes any Christian Science treatment for cure or relief from the effects of injury.

2. Lost wages of a victim, parent of a victim, or in the case of a homicide, a family member of a victim. If the victim or parent of a victim was employed at the time of the injury, lost wages must be based on his or her net income at the time of the injury. If the victim was not employed at the time of the injury or, if as a direct result of the injury, the victim suffered a disability causing a loss of potential income, lost wages may be based on a sufficient showing by the victim that he or she actually incurred loss of earnings. If a victim is released by a physician to return to work with restrictions but is unable to return to the job he or she was performing at the time the crime was committed, the amount of lost wages awarded must be reduced by any wage income earned by the victim or by wage income the victim could have earned, that the victim was capable of performing, but unreasonably failed to undertake. The Department may award each victim, parent of victim, or in the case of a homicide, family member of a victim, not more than two weeks of lost wages without requiring proof of disability from a physician.

3. Mental health treatment and lost wages for parents of a victim.

4. Replacement of caregiver services if the victim is a caregiver at the time of injury and unable to perform those services as a result of the crime.

5. Reasonable and necessary housing accessibility adaptations if, as a direct result of the personal injury, the victim suffered a protracted disability.

6. Clothing and bedding held for evidentiary purposes.

7. Computers or mobile telephones held for evidentiary purposes.

8. Other property which is held for evidentiary purposes and is rendered unusable because of crime laboratory testing.

9. Funeral and burial expenses.

10. Dependent's loss of support, which shall be determined on the basis of the victim's net annual income at the time of death. Loss of support is calculated by first multiplying the victim's net annual income by four. From this amount, a deduction is made in an amount equal to the benefits the dependents receive, or will receive, over the course of four years, as a survivor benefit from the federal social security program. A second deduction is made in an amount equal to any life insurance proceeds the dependents received as a result of the victim's death.

11. Cleaning up and securing a crime scene.

12. Attorney fees. Attorney fees may be paid out of, but not in addition to, the amount of an award provided to a victim. Attorney fees may not exceed 10% of the crime victim compensation award.
