2023 Senate Bill 896

Senate
Amendment 1

2023 SENATE BILL 896

Under current law, the Minnesota-Wisconsin student reciprocity agreement is overseen and administered by the Higher Educational Aids Board (HEAB) for both the Wisconsin Technical College System (WTCS) and the University of Wisconsin System (UWS). Under current law, all payments made to the State of Wisconsin under the Minnesota-Wisconsin student reciprocity agreement are deposited into the general fund.

A separate bill, 2023 Senate Bill 161, would require a modification to the Minnesota-Wisconsin student reciprocity agreement such that HEAB would retain responsibility for WTCS reciprocity with Minnesota, but the UWS Board of Regents would oversee and administer a new, separate agreement with Minnesota for reciprocity between UWS and institutions of higher education in Minnesota, known as the Minnesota-University of Wisconsin System student reciprocity agreement (MN-UWS reciprocity agreement).

2023 Senate Bill 896 specifies a funding mechanism for the MN-UWS reciprocity agreement. Specifically, the bill requires that any payment made to the State of Wisconsin pursuant to the MN-UWS reciprocity agreement, as well as all tuition and fees received by UWS under that agreement, must be credited to UWS's appropriation for general program operations under s. 20.285 (1) (gb), Stats. The bill also provides that UWS's appropriation for general program operations is to be used to pay any reimbursement obligation under the MN-UWS reciprocity agreement.

SENATE AMENDMENT 1

Senate Amendment 1 requires that any payments made to the State of Wisconsin pursuant to the current Minnesota-Wisconsin student reciprocity agreement for students enrolled in a UWS institution be credited to the UWS's appropriation for general program operations and that any related reimbursement obligation be paid from that same appropriation. In other words, under the amendment, while the current Minnesota-Wisconsin reciprocity agreement remains in effect, any money received by the State of Wisconsin or owed to the State of Minnesota for students participating in the UWS portion of the current agreement must be credited to or paid from UWS's appropriation for general program operations.
