9. Policy Problem Addressed by the Rule

This proposed rule draft addresses several problems. First, the proposed rule eliminates the provision that allows applicants who failed their examination to review the exam. Now that the test is administered electronically, an applicant may retake the test at any time. Since the exam may be taken more frequently, it is not feasible for the Department to provide the materials for the review process. Second, the proposed rule would remove an outdated reference to November 1, 2000, in s. VE 3.05 (1) (b). Third, the rule will adjust the hours necessary to qualify for licensure by endorsement allowing greater access to veterinarians who wish to practice in Wisconsin. Fourth, the proposed rule updates language concerning temporary permits. Fifth, a provision has been added that allows applicants a 10 month window between the time they graduated from school and the applicant's examination period for the North American Licensing Veterinary Examination. Lastly, the proposed rule will add a provision requiring applicants for post graduate training permits to submit evidence that he or she has received a degree from a school of veterinary medicine or its equivalent.

16. Compare With Approaches Being Used by Neighboring States (Illinois, Iowa, Michigan and Minnesota)

Illinois: Illinois repealed its regulations regarding temporary permits. Applicants seeking licensure by endorsement must certify from the licensing authority in each jurisdictions in which the applicant has ever been licensed or is currently licensed: (1) the time during which the applicant was licensed, (2) whether the file on the applicant contains any record of disciplinary actions taken or pending and (3) a brief description of the examination and the grades received. Applicants must also certify that they have graduated from an approved program of veterinary medicine and surgery. ILL Admin. Code tit.68 Title §1500.30 (2012)

Iowa: A temporary educational permit is issued to applicants that are currently in an internship or residency training program at Iowa State University College of Veterinary Medicine. Iowa Admin. Code r. 811-9.1(1) (169) (2012). Iowa also issues a temporary in-state practice permit to, “a person who has (1) graduated from an AVMA-accredited or AVMA-listed school of veterinary medicine or has received an ECFVG or PAVE certificate. [and] (2) Is licensed in good standing in another jurisdiction.” Iowa Admin. Code r.811-9.1 (2) (2012).

Michigan: The Michigan Board of Veterinary Medicine issues a license by endorsement to persons who have, “graduated from a board-approved veterinary college or obtained a certificate or obtained a certificate from the educational commission for foreign veterinary graduates of the American veterinary medical association.” Mich. Admn. Code r.338.4906 (2012). An internet search of Michigan laws did not reveal any provisions regarding temporary permits.

Minnesota: Minnesota may issue, without examination, a temporary permit to practice veterinary medicine to a person, “who has submitted an application approved by the board for license pending examination, and holds a doctor of veterinary medicine degree or an equivalent degree from an approved or accredited college of veterinary medicine or an ECFVG or PAVE certification. The temporary permit shall expire the day after publication of the notice of results of the first examination given after the permit is issued. No temporary permit may be issued to any applicant who has previously failed the national examination and is currently not licensed in any licensing jurisdiction of the United States or Canada or to any person whose license has been revoked or suspended or who is currently subject to a disciplinary order in any licensing jurisdiction of the United States or Canada.” MINN. STAT. §156.073. An internet search of Minnesota statutes and rules did not reveal any provisions regarding licensure by endorsement
