3 The Wisconsin department of agriculture, trade and consumer protection hereby proposes the
4 following rule to repeal and recreate ATCP 74 relating to agent status for local health
5 departments to license, investigate, and inspect retail food, vending, lodging, and recreational
6 establishments and ensure public health.

Analysis Prepared by the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection

This rule repeals and recreates chapter ATCP 74 (Retail Food Establishments; Local Government Regulation) as “Local Agents and Regulation.”

Statutes Interpreted

Statutes Interpreted: ss. 97.41, Stats., “Retail food: agent status for local health departments,” 97.615, Stats., “Agent status for local health departments,” and 97.625, Stats., “Powers of the department and local health departments.”

Statutory Authority

Statutory Authority: ss. 93.07 (1), 97.41 (2) and (5), and 97.615 (2) (b) and (e), Stats.

Explanation of Statutory Authority

The Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (“department”) has broad general authority, under s. 93.07 (1), Stats., to adopt rules to implement programs under its jurisdiction. The department has specific authority, under ss. 97.41 (2) and (5) and 97.615 (2) (b) and (e), Stats., to promulgate rules to establish standards and fees for local health departments granted agent status to license, investigate, and inspect the operations of retail food, lodging, and recreational establishments within a designated jurisdiction.

Related Statutes and Rules

Wisconsin's retail food establishments, vending, lodging, and recreational establishments (including pools and water attractions, recreational and educational camps, and campgrounds) are governed by ch. 97, Stats. Section 97.30, Stats., "Retail food establishments," contains requirements related to retail food establishment, including restaurants, for licensing, fees, and inspection. Subchapter III, ch. 97, Stats., "LODGING AND VENDING MACHINES," contains requirements related to these establishments for licensing, fees, and inspection. Finally, Subchapter IV, ch. 97, Stats., "RECREATIONAL SANITATION," contains requirements, related to recreational establishments, for licensing, fees, and inspection.

Plain Language Analysis

On July 1, 2016, ch. DHS 192 and the section of ch. ATCP 75, dealing with agent programs, were combined into a new ch. ATCP 74, dealing with the relationship of the department's new Division of Food and Recreational Safety (DFRS) and its agent programs. Under the authority of an approved DHS scope statement, the new DFRS is now revising ch. ATCP 74.

The new rule standardizes language from ATCP 75 and DHS 192. It also standardizes, expands, and clarifies definitions of agent program terms. In doing so, it clarifies department expectations for persons hired by agent programs to hold, or be eligible to work toward holding, the Registered Sanitarian (RS) certification. The RS certification is the preferable credential to be held by agent-program sanitarians doing food inspections and the revised rule clarifies the department's expectations regarding inspection done by those sanitarians who have not yet earned the RS certification, as well as the staffing procedures to be followed by agent programs if certified RS staff leave the program.

The revised ATCP 74 also clarifies the department's expectations for agent-program inspection systems and databases, and spells out the terms to be covered by forthcoming department-agent contracts. It adds a mandatory expiration date, after which the contract may be renewed. The rule clarifies the expectations of the department for agent programs seeking to enter into a contractual relationship and the procedures to enter into that agreement, and it clarifies the procedures for either or both entities to end the contractual relationship. The rule also updates and clarifies the roles that both the department and the agent program shall play under the contractual relationship and the types of support, levels of training, and information that are to be shared by each of the partners in the contractual relationship.

This new rule clarifies the responsibilities of the agent programs to enforce the Wisconsin Food Code, to inform the department of their enforcement activities, and do such sampling as is required by the department. It also clarifies the financial responsibilities of the agent programs for that sampling. In addition, the new rule clarifies the responsibilities of the department to provide general and specialized training, and laboratory support for the agent programs.

ATCP 74 further clarifies statutory requirements, including reimbursements owed to the department, the payments for services the agent program may be required to make to the department, and the types of financial records that the agent program shall make available to the department upon request. In particular, it spells out the responsibility of agent programs to demonstrate that the fees charged by the local program are reasonable and used only for maintaining the local program.

Federal and Surrounding State Programs

Federal Programs – The Federal Food and Drug Administration (“FDA”) lacks jurisdiction over retail food establishments. The department uses the FDA’s model Food Code as the basis for its Wisconsin Food Code (ATCP 75 Appendix) that spells out retail food establishment requirements, so the department expects its agent programs to enforce the same standards in the Wisconsin Food Code.

Surrounding State Programs – This chapter is specifically intended to clarify the relationship between the department’s DFRS and the local health departments that wish to act as agents of DFRS. The practices of surrounding states have little bearing on this relationship or the contract between a local health department and DFRS.

Minnesota currently has only seven local health department agent programs that perform retail food establishment inspections under the oversight of the Minnesota Department of Agriculture (MDA). All other food-related inspections are completed under the oversight of the Minnesota Department of Health (MDH). The agent programs have their own fee structure and issue their own licenses. The MDA has taken parts of the 2005 FDA model Food Code and incorporated them into their administrative rules. They require a Registered Environmental Health Sanitarian (REHS) certification for inspection staff or a degree-equivalent in order to perform food inspections. They also require new hires without the REHS to earn that credential within two years and to operate under the supervision of a credentialed inspector until they earn the credential. The MDH has similar requirements.

Iowa also has agent-program food inspectors regulating retail food establishments. The agent programs perform only retail food inspections, follow Iowa’s state rules, and must use Iowa’s inspection program. They must also use Iowa’s fee structure for licenses. An RS or REHS certification or supervision by a certified person for food inspections is not required, but Iowa is working toward meeting Standard 2 (Trained Regulatory Staff) in the FDA’s National Voluntary Program Standards. Iowa’s policies and program expectations may change as the Iowa program meets FDA’s retail food inspection regulatory standards.

Michigan allows local jurisdictions to perform only restaurant inspection. All other retail food establishment inspection is done by the state. Michigan does not require restaurant inspectors to hold an RS or an REHS credential, but does have state accreditation standards that are roughly similar, and require twenty Continuing Education Units (CEUs) of on-going education per year as well as the successful completion of an audit. The agent programs are allowed to issue licenses and set fees.

Illinois does not perform any retail food inspection on a state level. Local programs perform all the retail and restaurant inspection. They do not issue licenses locally, but are funded by a state grant, the Local Health Program Grant. The state requires a Licensed Health Professional certification, which is Illinois’ version of Wisconsin’s RS or the national REHS. This certification requires five CEUs per year. The state evaluates the local programs at the same rate Wisconsin does, and their program depends on passing an evaluation.

Data and Analytical Methodologies

This rule was developed using chs. DHS 192 and ATCP 75 and the department’s new contract with agent programs. Enquiries were also made to surrounding states in an effort to ascertain their requirements and practices for similar programs.

Effect on Small Business

This rule change is anticipated to have no impact on small business, as local agents were already handling licensing, investigations, and inspection for many of these businesses, when the programs were in two agencies, this department and the Department of Health Services.

7 with another agent for a registered sanitarian to provide supervisory oversight. The replacement
8 hire shall become a registered sanitarian within six months of being hired. A copy of the 7 inspection.

8 (10) The agent program is solely responsible for all employment-related issues, involving the 9 persons it employs in the program, and for the actions or omissions of the agent program's
10 employees, except as otherwise provided by law.

17 by the department.

18 (3) Each fiscal year the agent shall conduct one routine inspection of each license holder's

21 the department, in writing.

22 (4) The agent program shall collect food and water samples as necessary or as requested by 23 the department.

1 (5) Before issuing a new license, the agent program inspector shall perform a pre-licensing
2 inspection of the license applicant's establishment for compliance with all applicable ordinances,
3 rules, and statutes. The pre-licensing inspection shall be conducted before the operator is issued a
4 license and conducts business.

5 (6) The department may conduct inspections in an establishment in an agent program's
6 jurisdiction:

7 (a) For training or standardization of department staff or for staff of an agent program.

20 licensee or establishment under the agent program's jurisdiction.

6 investigations, as necessary, with other agencies having jurisdiction.

7 ATCP 74.14 Evaluation and training. (1) At least once each year, the agent program shall
8 submit a self-assessment in a format determined by the department.

9 (2) Once the self-assessment is submitted, the department shall evaluate the agent's program,
10 based upon a review of the following information in the self-assessment:

18 deemed necessary, increase the evaluation frequency.

19 (5) In response to the department's written findings, the agent shall submit to the department
20 any required corrective action plan, detailing how the agent will meet contract requirements.

1 (7) If the agent fails to meet the conditions specified in the corrective action plan, the
2 department shall:

7 active status.

8 (c) If deficiencies remain uncorrected after a conditional deadline has passed, the department
9 shall notify the agent of its intent to terminate the contract and revoke agent status as provided
10 under ATCP 74.26.

11 (8) Notwithstanding these provisions, the department may exercise its right to immediately

8 the local agent program's jurisdiction.

9 (6) The agent program shall take samples requested by the department.

21 comply with the enforcement provisions of this chapter or any other rules or statutes applicable
22 under the contract, and that program does not act expeditiously or take effective action with the

1 licensee, the department may act under ss. 97.12, and 97.65, Stats., to enforce compliance with
2 this chapter.

3 (11) The agent, if requested by the department, shall conduct effectiveness checks after

15 (b) The reimbursement rate shall not exceed 20% of the state license fees the department sets

17 of the state fees is based on state license fees only, not pre-inspection and reinspection fees. The 18 current reimbursement rate is set within these limits by the contract.

19 (3) By September 30 of each year, agent programs shall reimburse the department for each
20 license issued by the agent program during the preceding fiscal year as a fee for training, support,
21 and oversight costs.

22 (4) The department may increase the reimbursement rate up to a maximum rate of 20% by 23 announcing the increase before the licensing year for which the change applies.

1 (5) Retail food and recreational establishment license fee reimbursement shall be:

2 (a) A fee equal to 10% of the applicable state license fee, regardless of the license fee

6 charged by the local agent, if the local agent fails to submit the annual self-assessment in par. (a).
7 to the department, by September 30 of that year. A fee payment under this paragraph does not
8 exempt the agent from the duty to prepare and submit an annual self-assessment.

10 ATCP 74.06, for the department to collect fees and issue licenses, the agent program shall pay

16 of all licenses and license holders, license fee revenues, inspection charges, complaints,
17 complaint investigations, and all program costs. These records also shall be retained for at least 18 three years.

19 (2) The agent program shall accurately and completely document the cost of the agent's
20 program that is administered under the contract with the department. The cost may include direct
21 costs for licensing, inspection, complaint handling and investigation, enforcement, information

1 the program. These costs may include staff, equipment, facilities, contract service, and other
2 documented costs allocated to the program.

13 complete list of the names and addresses of persons licensed by the agent program during the
