70.32 (1) Real property shall be valued by the assessor in the manner specified in the Wisconsin property assessment manual provided under s. 73.03 (2a) from actual view or from the best information that the assessor can practicably obtain, at the full value which could ordinarily be obtained therefor at private sale. In Subject to subs. (1b) and (1c), in determining the value, the assessor shall consider recent arm's-length sales of the property to be assessed if according to professionally acceptable appraisal practices those sales conform to recent arm's-length sales of reasonably comparable property; recent arm's-length sales of reasonably comparable property; and all factors that, according to professionally acceptable appraisal practices, affect the value of the property to be assessed.

Section 3m. 70.32 (1b) and (1c) of the statutes are created to read:

- 70.32 (1b) For purposes of sub. (1), property may not be considered reasonably comparable to the property being assessed under any of the following circumstances:

- (b) The comparable property is subject to a deed restriction, placed by the seller at or before the time of sale, that prohibits any use of the property that is reasonably comparable to the highest and best use of the property being assessed and the property being assessed is not subject to a similar restriction, unless credible adjustment can be made to account for the difference between the properties.
- (c) The property being assessed is subject to a deed restriction that prohibits any use of the property that is reasonably comparable to the highest and best use of the comparable property and the comparable property is not subject to a similar restriction, unless credible adjustment can be made to account for the difference between the properties.

- 1. If the property being assessed is subject to one or more operating leases, the assessor may consider the lease provisions and rental income generated by the property only to the extent that the rental income does not exceed the rental income that would be expected if the rents were consistent with local market rents for reasonably comparable properties and the overall lease provisions, including the creditworthiness of the tenants, are not more favorable to the property's owner than is typical in the local market.
- 2. If the property being assessed is subject to one or more operating leases, the assessor may not rely on the rental income generated by the property or the lease provisions unless the assessor has actual knowledge of the material terms of all the operating leases and the creditworthiness of all the tenants as of the assessment date.
- 3. If the property being assessed is subject to a lease that is not an operating lease, the assessor may not rely on the rental income generated by the property or the lease provisions.
- 4. The assessor may rely on the sale of reasonably comparable property that is subject to one or more operating leases only if all of the following conditions are met:
- a. At the time of the sale of the reasonably comparable property, the rental income generated by the reasonably comparable property did not exceed the rental income that would be expected if the rents were consistent with market rents for reasonably comparable properties in that property's local market.
