

The Department of Commerce proposes an order to amend Comm 5.01 (4) (a), Comm 5.02 Table 5.02 lines 9. and 10., Comm 5.06 Table 5.06 lines 9. and 10., and Comm 5.10 (1) (b) (intro.); to repeal and recreate Comm 5.31, Comm 20.09 (2) (b), and Comm 20.09 (5); and to create Comm 5.02 Table 5.02 line 9m., Comm 5.06 Table 5.06 line 9m., Comm 5.10 (1) (a) 14., and Comm 5.315, relating to certification of dwelling contractors, and affecting small businesses.

Analysis of Proposed Rules

1. Statutes Interpreted.

Sections 101.63 and 101.654, Stats., 2005 Wisconsin Act 200 and 2007 Wisconsin Act 14

2. Statutory Authority.

Sections 101.63 and 101.654, Stats., and 2005 Wisconsin Act 200

3. Related Statute or Rule.

None.

4. Explanation of Agency Authority.

Section 101.63 (2m), Stats., empowers the department to promulgate certification rules regarding the financial responsibility of contractors who obtain building permits for work on dwellings. Section 101.654 (1m) (a), Stats., as enacted by 2005 Wisconsin Act 200, further directs the department to promulgate rules establishing educational obligations for contractors who obtain building permits for work on dwellings.

5. Summary of Proposed Rules.

Under current rules the department issues dwelling contractor financial responsibility certifications to businesses and entities that obtain building permits to perform work on one- and two-family dwellings no matter when the structure was initially constructed. The department is proposing to create a new separate certification, dwelling contractor qualifier, issued to an individual in order to fulfill the educational obligations established under 2005 Wisconsin Act 200. The qualifier certification term is proposed for two years, pursuant to 2007 Wisconsin Act 14, and renewal of the certification is contingent upon the holder obtaining 12 hours continuing education. The proposed rules also provide grandfathering provisions for obtaining the contractor qualification certification.

6. Summary of, and Comparison with, Existing or Proposed Federal Regulations.

The proposed rules address administrative issues unique to the department's rules. There are no existing or proposed federal regulations that address the activities to be regulated by the proposed rules.

7. Comparison with Rules in Adjacent States.

An internet search of the State of Illinois' website did not reveal the existence of a state-level licensing or certification for dwelling contractors or home builders.

An internet search of the State of Iowa's website revealed that there is no licensing or certification requirement for building contractors or home builders just a simple registration program that does not require educational prerequisites.

The State of Michigan's website indicates that Michigan licenses residential builders and maintenance and alteration contractors. However, the qualifications for the license and its renewal do not appear to require the fulfillment of any educational obligations.

The State of Minnesota website indicates that Minnesota requires residential building contractor and remodeling companies to obtain a license. Each company must designate one individual as a qualifying person who must take the required examination and fulfill the 7-hours of continuing education required to renew the license.

8. Summary of Factual Data and Analytical Methodologies.

In developing the proposed rules the department reviewed the language of 2005 Wisconsin Act 200 together with the existing laws under ss. 101.63 and 101.654, Stats. and the existing administrative rules under s. Comm 5.31. The department also received input from the statutorily-created Contractor Certification Council. The council's composition reflects a variety of organizations whose memberships include many types of small businesses. The department utilizes advisory councils to gather information on potential impacts in complying with both the technical and administrative requirements of its codes. A responsibility of council members is to bring forth concerns their respective organizations may have with the proposed rules, including concerns regarding economic impacts. (Copies of the council meetings summaries are on file in Safety and Building Division.)

The Contractor Certification Council is comprised of:

Craig Rakowski, Wauwatosa, Wisconsin Builders Association

Jay Statz, Middleton, National Association of the Remodeling Industry

Joseph Welch, Pewaukee, Wisconsin State Council of Carpenters

9. Analysis and Supporting Documents Used to Determine Effect on Small Business or in Preparation of Economic Impact Report.

The proposed rules implement the mandates imposed by 2005 Wisconsin Act 200. The Act establishes educational obligations for contractors who need to obtain building permits involving work on one- and two- family dwellings. Currently, a building permit is required for the construction of every new one- and two- family dwelling. The necessity to obtain a building permit for alterations and additions to existing dwellings is at the discretion of each municipality in terms when, if and for what type of work a building permit is required before starting the project. In light of this, the Act and the proposed rules potentially affect a wide variety of contractors and trades, including home builders and contractors, remodeling businesses and roofing contractors. The cost of the department's proposed annual contractor certification is $30. The renewal of the certification is contingent upon the holder obtaining at least 12 hours of continuing education. The continuing education, upon approval by the department, can be provided by anyone. The fee, if any, for a continuing education course or seminar is left to the discretion of the course/seminar provider. The department does not believe that the proposed rules will increase the effect on small businesses over that imposed by the Act.

An economic impact report has not been required pursuant to s. 227.137, Stats.
